The beginning message when you open your e-mail program is a message from the RJR Law Department. It is asking you to send any e-mail messages that may be important to RJR's litigation efforts to RETAIN.

RETAIN is a "holding place" for e-mail that might pertain to RJR's legal cases. The Law department reviews the e-mail in RETAIN and keeps the messages that are relevant. This helps the Law department respond quickly and accurately if a court orders RJR to submit e-mail documents for a case.

What kinds of e-mail should be sent to RETAIN?

The Law department has published a list of keywords and general content areas that are important to RJR's legal cases. Any e-mail that contains these keywords or subjects should be sent to RETAIN! Following are instructions for viewing this information:

If you are a remote laptop user:

1. Go to Help Topics.
2. Choose HELP - Retain Keywords.
3. Click Litigation Keywords and Litigation Content Areas.

If you are in an ROU:

1. Go to the RJRT intranet home page.
2. From Company-Wide Information choose Litigation - Document Requirements.
3. Choose Retain Keywords & Content Areas.

How do I send e-mail to RETAIN?

Sending e-mail to RETAIN is like sending it to any e-mail recipient.

If you use RemoteWare Mail:

- When you create a message that should go to RETAIN, choose RETAIN from the address list and mark the CC option.
- When you receive a message that should go to RETAIN, click the Forward button; choose RETAIN from the address list and mark the To option.

If you use MicroSoft Mail:

- When you create a message that should go to RETAIN, type RETAIN in the Cc field.
- When you receive a message that should go to RETAIN, click the Forward button; type RETAIN in the To field.
